DeLand's Dream Becomes Reality

Henry A. DeLand launched the development of Stetson University in the fall of 1883. Mr. DeLand, a successful New York businessman and a former baking powder manufacturer, moved to Florida with a dream. He hoped to make the area, now known as DeLand, a cultural and religious center for Florida.

This endeavor began when Mr. DeLand organized a school at the area Baptist church on November 5, 1883. The pastor of the church, Dr. J. H. Griffith, served as the principal until the spring of 1885. Mr. DeLand set out to clear four acres of land on the corner of Woodland Boulevard and Minnesota Avenue and erect a building to house the school, known as DeLand Academy. Completed in the spring of 1884, DeLand Hall was to become the cornerstone of Stetson University.

At the same time, a committee of the Florida Baptist Convention was looking for a site on which to establish a women's college. The Baptist leaders opted instead to cooperate with the new coeducational institution of higher learning in DeLand and began a relationship of mutual support which has endured through the years. In his attempt to raise finances, Dr. Forbes encouraged John B. Stetson, the famous hat manufacturer and new resident of DeLand, to donate to the building of a new dormitory. Mr. Stetson agreed to contribute on the condition that the building have indoor plumbing. Stetson Hall opened in 1886. In 1889, the Board of Trustees voted to change the name of the college to that of its greatest benefactor, John B. Stetson, who continued his invaluable support until his death in 1906.

Seven Presidents Lead Stetson Through One Hundred Years

John Forbes

Dr. John Forbes, the first president of Stetson University, served from 1885 to 1904. Born and raised in Rochester, New York, he graduated from the University of Rochester, then taught Latin and Greek at Brockport State Teachers' College. In the fall of 1885, when Dr. Forbes accepted the presidency of DeLand Academy, the campus consisted of four acres of land and one building, the present DeLand Hall. Forbes, a very aggressive and able man, was responsible for interesting Mr. John B. Stetson in contributing toward the construction of a sorely needed dormitory. The original Flagler Hall and the present Stetson, Chaudoin, Elizabeth, and Sampson Halls were all built during Dr. Forbes' presidency.

Lincoln Hulley

Stetson University's second president, Dr. Lincoln Hulley, received his Bachelor of Arts from Harvard University, another Bachelor of Arts degree and his Master's degree from Bucknell University, and his Doctor of Philosophy degree from the University of Chicago. Dr. Hulley was an autocratic individual, a man of great intelligence, and an exceptionally fine orator. Dr. Hulley built Stetson from a small school with little equipment or endowment in 1904 to a strong university with state-of-the-art equipment and modern buildings in 1934. During his presidency, Dr. Hulley donated the chimes which were placed in the cupola of Elizabeth Hall and began construction of the tower that bears his name and to which the chimes were moved in 1934.

William Sims Allen

A graduate of Baylor University with a Doctor of Philosophy degree from Columbia University, Dr. William Sims Allen served on the accrediting committee of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools before coming to Stetson in 1934. Dr. Allen drew on his experience with the Association in raising the standards of the school by implementing an Honors System in which junior and senior students who showed exceptional ability were allowed to work independently in the fields of their choice. Being a man of vigor, strength, and congeniality, Dr. Allen succeeded in improving university relations with the Florida Baptist Convention. At one time the need for campus housing was so severe as to force Dr. Allen from the president's home to provide living space for some of the female students. Dr. Allen resigned from the presidency at the end of 1947 due to failing health.

J. Ollie Edmunds

Dr. Paul Francis Geren received a Doctor of Philosophy degree from Harvard University and served as a foreign service officer in the State Department for twenty years. He was the first deputy director of the Peace Corps and the author of the best-selling book, Burma Diary. Dr. Geren was chosen as president of the University in 1967, and foreign exchange programs were first instituted during his administration. Dr. Geren grew unpopular with the faculty and students and resigned in 1969, after serving a term of only twenty-one months.

Paul Francis Geren

Dr. J. Ollie Edmunds graduated from Stetson University with a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1925. In 1927, he was awarded a Master of Arts degree and, in 1928, a Bachelor of Law degree. Dr. Edmunds is the recipient of many awards from state, national, secular, and religious organizations, signifying his contribution to mankind as a statesman and a leader. Following fourteen years of service on the Board of Trustees, Dr. Edmunds was elected president in 1948. During a presidency which spanned nearly nineteen years, he saw Stetson add sixteen buildings and 47 acres of land. Dr. Edmunds was elected Chancellor of the University following his resignation and continues to serve Stetson in that capacity today.

Dr. Pope A. Duncan, the current president of Stetson, received his Bachelor of Science degree and a Master's degree from the University of Georgia and a Doctor of Philosophy degree from the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. He was unanimously elected president of Stetson in 1977. Dr. Duncan has long been involved in administrative and scholarly leadership, having taught at four different universities and seminaries and having served as president of two colleges. Dr. Duncan is committed to the traditional relationship between Stetson University and the Florida Baptist Convention. He believes the University has a responsibility to provide students with a quality education within a Christian environment.

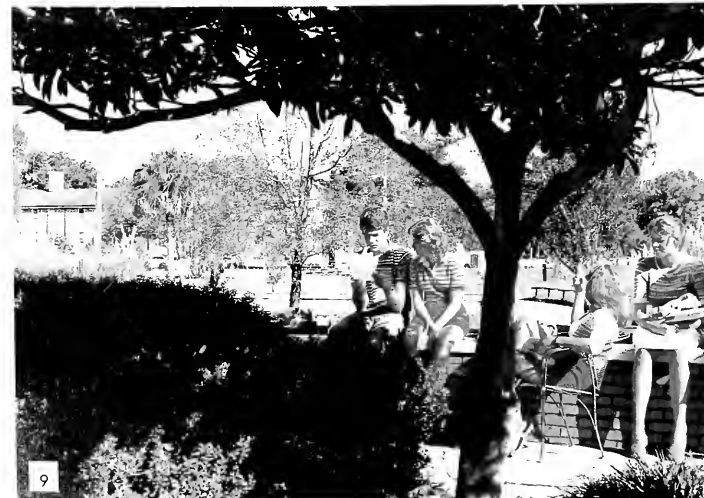

John E. Johns

Dr. John E. Johns began serving Stetson University as an instructor in the history department, and later advanced to Chairman of the history and political science departments. In 1970, he was named president of the University. Dr. Johns was liked and trusted by the faculty, the students, and the Florida Baptist Convention, which enabled him to transform a divided institution into a more unified, cooperative organization. It was during his presidency, from 1970 to 1976, that the much larger and improved Edmunds Activities Center was constructed and a grant was secured for the remodeling of Flagler Hall. Presently, Dr. Johns is president of Furman University.

Campus Expands, Brick by Brick

In 1883, when classes were first held at DeLand Academy, the young school had no physical plant of its own. The students met in one of the Sunday school rooms of the Baptist church. Today, the campus of Stetson University includes 34 buildings on nearly one hundred acres.

1. DeLand Hall, the oldest university building in continuous use in the state of Florida, was built by Henry A. DeLand in the spring of 1884. In its early years, this building housed the chapel, the library, and all of the classrooms of DeLand Academy. DeLand Hall was renovated in 1980 and presently houses administrative offices.
2. Chaudoin Hall was built in three sections with the center section completed in 1892 and the north and south wings completed in 1894 and 1935, respectively. Chaudoin was named for Dr. W. N. Chaudoin and has always been used as a women's dormitory.
3. John B. Stetson built Elizabeth Hall in 1892 and added the north and south wings in 1897. The building, named for Mr. Stetson's wife, is currently the academic center of the campus with many classrooms and offices as well as the University Chapel.
4. Dr. Lincoln Hulley began construction on Hulley Tower before his death in 1934. The Eloise chimes, named for Mrs. Hulley, were moved from the cupola of Elizabeth Hall to the top of the tower when it was completed. Dr. and Mrs. Hulley are interred in crypts located on the first floor of the tower.
5. Built in the spring of 1896, Stetson Hall was the second building erected on Stetson's campus and the first coeducational dormitory in the state of Florida. Originally, Stetson Hall contained living space for Dr. Forbes and his family, offices, the dining room, and the kitchen as well as rooms for both students and teachers.
6. Sampson Hall, originally named the Carnegie Building, was built around 1908 to house the library. It was remodeled in 1964 and became the center for the Art and Language Departments following the construction of the duPont-Ball Library.

Stetson University:

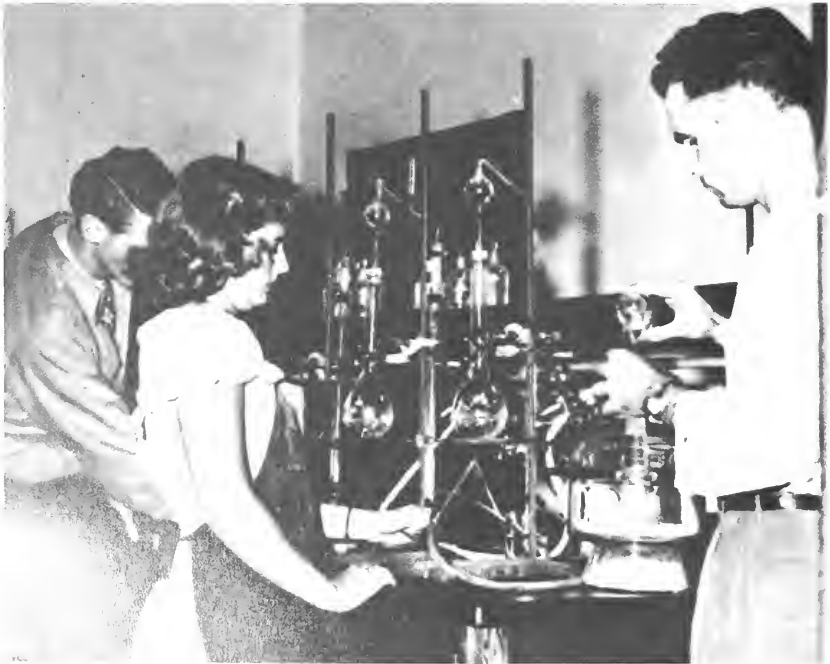

Stetson University has been educating students with a high standard of education for one-hundred years. Today it continues this tradition with the Schools of Liberal Arts, Business Administration, and Music.

The learning tradition began with the opening of the DeLand Academy in the Baptist Church of DeLand in 1883. This small academy became a college in 1885, and in 1889, the name was changed to John B. Stetson University.

The University commenced its career with five distinct departments: College, Academy, Normal School, Art School and Music School. In 1892, there were 202 students and a faculty of sixteen teachers. The Business College was opened as a distinct department in the Fall of 1897. In October 1900, the College of Law was opened, and the School of Technology (inclusive of the College of Mechanic Arts) was established October 1, 1902.

So high a stand did Stetson University take among its contemporaries, that, as the result of its fine faculty and curricula, in the Spring of 1898, Chicago University granted it full affiliation with its College of Liberal Arts. This relation continued for over nine years, with many students from each of the universities attending the other throughout the year.

The Stetson academic tradition has developed steadily in the past one-hundred years, with the University recently being granted a charter of Phi Beta Kappa. Through the years, the University has also combined with the city of DeLand in various ways to promote educational and cultural expansion in the community.

An Academic Tradition

Rush 1982

Greek organizations are a big part of life at Stetson, and Rush is a big part of Greek organizations. Last fall, Panhellenic hosted a record number of 236 women. Of these, 124 pledged one of the seven sororities on campus. The Inter-fraternity Council also had a large number of people going through Rush, and the fraternities on campus ended up with many promising pledges.

2. Sorority members greet new pledges in front of Chaudoin Hall before formally accepting them into their groups at candlelighting and pledging ceremonies.
3. The brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon and Pi Kappa Phi wait in front of the Carlton Union Building to receive their newly pledged brothers at bid pick-up.
4. The annual Panhellenic beach party provides a great chance for both sororities and fraternities to brush up on their rushing skills.
5. Prospective pledges mingle with the members of Phi Mu at a formal rush party.

Green- feather

One of the highlights of the fall semester was Greenfeather week. The Greenfeather committee sponsored fundraising activities throughout the week and donated the money to local charitable organizations. The week got off to a good start on Monday with a chalk draw in front of the Carlton Union Building. Later that evening, representatives from various groups on campus competed in the annual "Mr. Beauty" contest. Students participated in a rock-a-thon on Tuesday, the Greenfeather Follies on Wednesday, and the Greenfeather Olympics on Thursday. The week culminated on Friday evening with the Greenfeather Carnival. There were various booths and activities, as well as an abundance of door prizes. Overall, the week was a tremendous success, and several charities benefitted from the efforts of Stetson students.

4. Comedy is one of David Young's fortés, and he shares the laughs at the Greenfeather follies.
5. Greenfeather week started off with a chalk draw where passers-by could write messages for all to see.

Greek Week

The end of October brought the beginning of Greek Week. During the week of October 31, sororities and fraternities came together in friendly competition to show their unity and increase campus awareness. The week started off with a test of knowledge. Sunday and Monday, Greek students competed in a college quiz bowl. On Monday, Panhellenic and I.F.C. pooled their resources toward a community service project. Students paired off and went door-to-door around DeLand, collecting canned food for the Neighborhood Center. The Greek organizations gathered in Elizabeth Hall Chapel on Wednesday night to serenade one another at the Greek Sing. The highlight of the week occurred Thursday afternoon as students raced up and down Hayden Boulevard for the annual bed race. Thursday night was skit night, and pledges from each sorority and fraternity performed a skit about their group's founding. Throughout the week, the various Greek organizations displayed information and trivia related to their groups so that passers-by could ask questions and learn more about the Greek system at Stetson. The week ended with a party on Saturday where awards were presented to the sorority and fraternity that showed the most involvement during the week.

1. Members of Delta Sigma Phi race to the finish line to win the annual Greek Week bed race.
2. Richard Weiss and his fraternity brothers show that Greek Week is not the only time Greeks display their spirit.

ATO Charters

The Theta Psi chapter of Alpha Tau Omega was officially installed at Stetson on February 5, 1983. The weekend of the chartering was a time for celebration for all the members of the fraternity, but especially for those members involved in the colonization of Gamma Chi. The president, vice president, director of volunteer services, and executive director of the national organization flew to central Florida to participate in the festivities. That night, the members and national officers attended a cocktail party given in their honor by the Central Florida Alumni Association. On Saturday morning an initiation ceremony was held for the entire chapter, including the thirty-five current members, four alumni members, and Dr. Richard Cherry, the chapter advisor. Following the ceremony, the new brothers of the national fraternity were presented with their local charter. Later that day, the chapter and honored guests celebrated with a dinner party at the Lake Beresford Yacht Club, where the national president, David Thomas, was the guest speaker.

3. A handsome sign in the Commons serves as a reminder of the chartering of Stetson's Theta Psi chapter of Alpha Tau Omega.
4. Scott Kiesling, Russell Crumbly, St. Barnabas, and Allen Vinson celebrate the receiving of Theta Psi's charter.

Intramurals

One reason Stetson students joined campus social and religious organizations was to have a respite from the pressures of classes. Intramural sports were sources of friendly competition and gave students from all types of clubs a chance to participate in athletics. Volleyball, football, racquetball, tennis, basketball, swimming, and track were the sports in which members of various teams participated. Each organization sponsoring a team was given points for participating and winning. At the end of the year, awards went to the organizations with the most points.

1. Intramural volleyball provides Stetson men with a chance to get involved in some friendly competition.
2. Members of Pi Kappa Alpha and Delta Sigma Phi battle it out on the football field.
3. The athletic skills of members of Sigma Nu are tested in this intramural football game.

2. It doesn't take intramural competitors long to realize what an exhausting sport basketball can be.
3. Opponents struggle for control of the ball in a crucial play for Sigma Nu.

Residential Life

Residential Life at Stetson provided students a place to live, and operated as an important source of information and recreation. For most students, the bulk of information about campus happenings, from social events to test schedules, could be attained through the resident staffs. Staff assistants, resident advisors, and head residents served as both friends and counselors to the members of their halls. They were also constructive in planning social functions. Some highlights of the year were Casino Night and Computer Dating. At Casino Night, sponsored by Carson and Chaudoin Halls, students gambled with play money. Kathleen Ganey and the Residential Life staff organized a computer dating service and sponsored a part in the Hatrack, where the participants could find their suitable companions. The residence halls provided the perfect setting in which to make friends. Both first semester freshmen and second semester seniors found the relationships among hallmates to be special ones.

1. Watching fraternity bid pickup provides an afternoon's entertainment for these residents of Chaudoin.

Music And Theatre

The School of Music and the Department of Speech and Theatre provided a wide variety of programs for the Stetson community during 1982-83. The Department of Speech and Theatre produced several plays and musicals for the enjoyment of students and members of the DeLand community. Among the shows this year were Kismet, Our Town, and The Collaborators. The Music School was also responsible for providing entertainment and cultural enrichment to the Stetson community. Throughout the year, music students presented senior recitals, ensemble performances, and music festivals. While Broadway had the Pirates of Penzance the Stetson community enjoyed another Gilbert and Sullivan creation, The Mikado.

1. Bill Steele and Janet Cunningham take on the roles of music arranger and singer in The Collaborators.
2. A host of talented actors graces the stage in the production of Our Town.
3. The major characters in the cast of Kismet take a bow after a successful show.
4. Denise Buckheister works on perfecting her musical skills.
5. The Stetson Jazz Ensemble rehearses for an upcoming performance.

Studies

The primary concern of both the students and faculty was academic progress, but students also found time to develop the social, athletic, and religious dimensions of their lives. The average student took from twelve to sixteen hours per semester, and spent many more hours each week preparing class assignments. Careful budgeting of time was a necessity for most students.

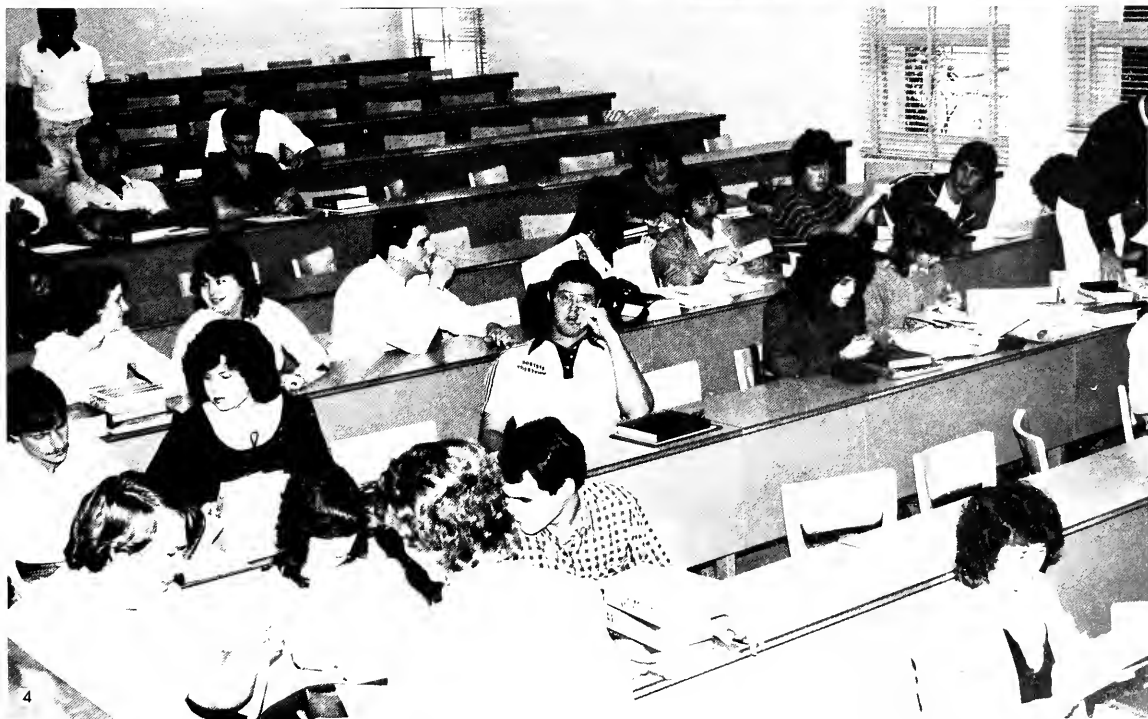

In addition to the dormitories, there were several other locations conducive to studying. The library was the place most frequented by students intent upon hitting the books. Other popular spots were empty classrooms and the study rooms upstairs in the Carlton Union Building.

1. An updated computer system makes registration a relatively simple matter.
2. Lynne Bazley and Chuck Sprague take advantage of resources in the library.

styles and Fads

The fashion world's diverse styles hit Stetson's campus. One favorite look was the "valley girl" with its mini-skirts, bright colors, flashy nylons, and lingo all its own. The punkers struck again with stripes, bright colors, and special haircuts. Western wear got a face-lift with the new prairie skirts, ruffled blouses, wide leather belts, and boots. The ever-present "preppy look" still held a place in the hearts of many Stetson students with its neutral colors, tailored cuts and penny loafers.

1. Jennifer Dee, Julie Griffiths and Bettina Thimm keep up with the latest fashions in stripes and minis.
2. These Stetson coeds exemplify the "preppy look."

6. Val Nelson models the latest in evening wear with her black-and-white tuxedo look.

Model Senate

The 1983 Model U.S. Senate was held on February 24-26. This program was once again a tremendous success. In addition to the sixty who assumed the roles of senators, many students acted as lobbyists for such groups as the AFL-CIO and the Moral Majority. Other students assumed the roles of pages for the legislators. The Model Senate was fortunate enough to have Dr. Floyd Riddick as its Parliamentary and Senator David Pryor as its guest speaker. One highlight of this Senate was the introduction of a resolution on the real Senate Floor for the purpose of honoring the 12th Annual Model Senate during Stetson's Centennial.

On Campus Recreation

Most students spent from twelve to sixteen hours a week in class, but studies were only a part of life at Stetson. There was an abundance of activities available right here on campus. The Alley provided recreation for pool lovers, ping-pong fans, and video game addicts. Various lectures, films, plays, and concerts added a touch of culture to Stetson's campus. On a casual note, the Student Union Board provided entertainment in the form of Wednesday night Happy Hours and Friday Flicks. The S.U.B. was also responsible for concerts in the Edmunds Center and various performances in the Hat Rack and Coffeehouse. For sports lovers, there were baseball, softball, basketball, and soccer games, as well as tennis and volleyball matches. There was a little bit of something for everybody; all one had to do was look around.

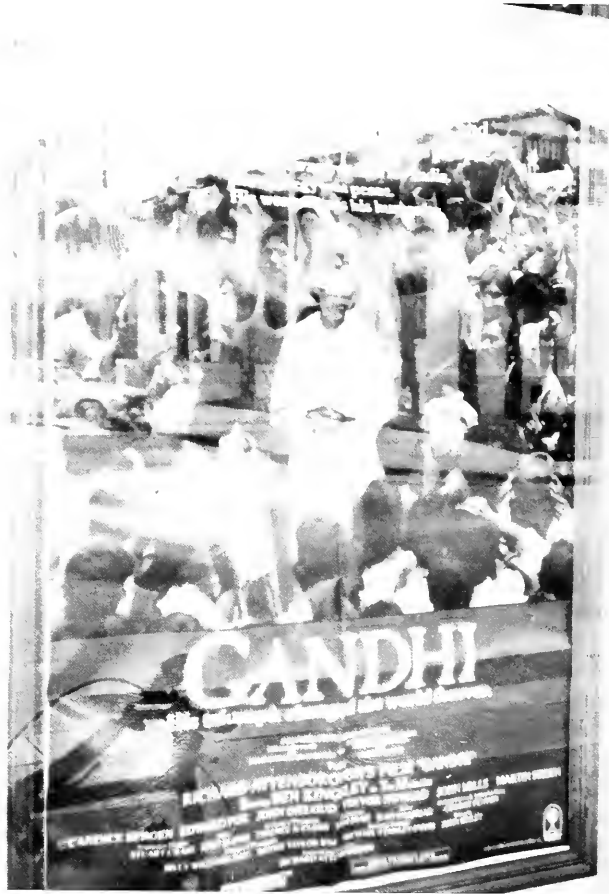

1. Dancing is a favorite pastime of Stetson students, and Emily Hall's residents provide a perfect opportunity at their January dance.
 2. Intramural volleyball gets very competitive as members of Lambda Chi Alpha battle it out with residents of a men's dormitory.
 3. One of the highlights of the fall semester was the Greenfeather carnival, and Dr. Hale and Dr. Bailey join in the fun.
 4. Stranger, a favorite band among Stetson students, performs in the Edmunds Center.
 5. At the second of two concerts put on by the SUB in the fall, The Producers perform.

Diversions

When the last class of the day was over, students looked for various forms of recreation to break the monotony of studying. Friday afternoon meant a trip to Otis' to enjoy the natural beauty of the St. Johns river. A sunny weekend meant tanning and socializing at the beach. Wednesday night, Stetson night at the Athens, meant a movie for $1.00. Other activities that students enjoyed indulging in included bowling, miniature golf, dining out, shopping, and even a leisurely stroll through downtown DeLand. Stetson students had an abundance of relaxing activities available to them, and few hesitated to take advantage of the opportunities to escape for a little while.

1. Movies are an easily accessible form of entertainment to most people, and "Ghandi" is one of 1983's best.
2. Mary Jane Sanders and Ken Lucas find refuge from the pressures of classes at the bowling alley.
3. Daytona is Central Florida's most famous beach, and Stetson students flock there on sunny days.
4. The relaxing setting of the St. John's river makes Otis' a favorite spot on Friday afternoons.
5. Many Stetson students appreciate Ginger and Harry Denny for making Dennyland available for them to enjoy visiting.

Night Spots

After a day of studying and classes, Stetson students hit the town to relax and socialize. Although DeLand's night life wasn't exactly demanding, there were some favorite spots among students. The two more traditional places were Daly's Too and The Port. The Port featured "Port Night," with a free keg of beer for Stetson students. The attraction of Daly's Too or Red's was its location within walking distance of the university. Recently, however, the number of choices has increased. Last year, The Cavern, with a basement full of video games and pinball machines, opened and attracted students of a rowdier nature. The Athens Theatre, a cinema pub, also opened its doors. Students saw movies on Wednesday nights for an unheard-of $2.00. This year, McCabes was added to the list of hot spots. Here, the atmosphere was just a little calmer and the noise level was a bit lower than at the Cavern. Close to the campus, McCabes provided Stetsonites a refuge and a place to enjoy good conversation and friends.

1. An old standby, Red's is the setting for many fond memories.
2. The Cavern, a subterranean favorite, provides the perfect opportunity to sit back and discuss the news of the day.
3. Nancy Lopez and Sylvia Evans investigate McCabes, the latest close-to-campus hangout.
4. Nothing surpasses a good flick, as the Athens proves time after time.
5. Catherine Davi, Patti Losch, Jamie Bonura, and Frani Rodgers socialize in the relaxed atmosphere of Red's.

Hatrack Renovation

A favorite hangout at Stetson was the Hatrack. Students always enjoyed stopping in for a quick cup of coffee or a burger. After extensive renovation, the Hatrack became even more popular. During Winter Term, the Hatrack was temporarily moved to the Garden Room in the Commons. When the Hatrack reopened its doors in February, students discovered the month of waiting was worth it.

Jon Tofte, Susan Ives, and the Stetson Union Board worked with the Administration, the Board of Trustees, and Stetson's Food Service to bring about the change. The two major parts of the renovation were in the forms of additions of a balcony level and a stage. The Stetson Union Board plans to sponsor a wide range of performers in the future. Over the next several years, profits from the Alley will be used to repay the generous loan from the building fund by the Board of Trustees.

1. The stairway leads to the new loft area in the renovated Hatrack.
2. Changes in the decor of the Hatrack include new furniture and light fixtures, a paint job, and the addition of a stage area.
3. The Smith Sisters were the first musicians to perform in the new Hatrack.
4. Students were not the only ones wanting a change of scenery. The employees of Stetson's Food Service proudly display the results of the renovation.

Winter Term Activities

Winter term was a month when self-enrichment was emphasized. Classes were designed to accommodate students' interests outside of their major areas of study. The university provided an abundance of speakers, films, and concerts to promote self-enrichment. Classes and activities were centered around the theme, "The Interplay of Faith and Reason." Films included, "The Gospel According to St. Matthew," "The Seventh Seal," and "A Man for All Seasons." Stover Theatre presented a production of Thornton Wilder's "Our Town," and there were various lectures and chapel services by prominent theologians. The highlight of the term was a performance of the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Robert Shaw.

1. One of the highlights of winter term is the basketball games.
2. The Lippizan Stallions have performed at Stetson during winter term for the last several years.
3. The Atlanta Symphony Orchestra performs at Stetson as part of the Centennial celebration.
4. Pi Kappa Alpha, the winner of a campus-wide bed race, will receive $250 and a trip to Daytona to participate in a state competition sponsored by the Coca-Cola Company.
5. Dr. Michael Maccoby, one of many guest speakers during winter term, lectures on the "Holistic Approach to Education."

Fifties Fling

In February, students were busy getting into the new semester. The first Friday of the month, however, was set aside for a special celebration. It was a "Fifties Fling." Students and faculty alike became nostalgic and paid tribute to the decade of the Fifties. Students were seen all over campus dressed in cashmere sweaters, plaid skirts, bobby socks, and penny loafers. Activities of the day included a rowdy round of Simon Says, a sock hop in the Edmunds Center, and a dance marathon. The participants in the various activities enjoyed the opportunity to take a day off and relax.

1. The dance marathon provides a chance for Jackie Iglesias and Tony Guzzetta to prove their worth on the dance floor.
2. The activities of the day include a contest to see who can stuff the most balloons in her suit of clothes. Paige Nanna proves victorious in the event.
3. "Simon Sez" proves challenging to even the quickest of students.
4. Cemna Johnson and Tim Tatem display their nostalgia at the sock hop.

Homecoming

The academic year was full of activities geared toward the interests of the students, but one week of the year was reserved for the alumni. Homecoming week celebrated the return of many Stetson graduates, as well as the end of the basketball season. This year, the event took on special significance as it honored Stetson's one-hundredth birthday. Special activities included a breakfast in honor of the alumni, an art exhibit in Sampson Hall featuring the works of Stetson graduates, a presentation by the music school's wind ensemble, a production of The Collaborators, a Centennial Craft Show, a barbecue with live entertainment, and the main event of the week, the Homecoming basketball game. Students, both past and present, found Homecoming to be the perfect chance to realize ways in which this university has changed.

1. President Pope Duncan finds the barbecue a perfect opportunity to get reacquainted with some old friends.
2. Several hundred people compete in the annual Homecoming road race.
3. The stands are packed as Gary Mims increases Stetson's score by 2 points at the Homecoming game.
4. The barbecue provides Gary Meadows with good food and good company.
5. Homecoming can be a family affair. Mark Schweizer takes advantage of the chance to be with his children.

1. Stetson University extends a warm welcome to its Homecoming guests.
2. Marlene Kruelle accepts votes for Homecoming Queen and King.
3. Young and old alike find the road race to be a source of friendly competition.
4. One of the treats of the weekend is the performance of the alumni choir.
5. Young children learn an old craft at the Centennial Craft Show.

1. Doug Lee converses with Linda Parson at the alumni breakfast.
 2. Pottery, one of the oldest crafts, is displayed at the Centennial Craft Show.
 3. One of the most popular events during the weekend is the barbecue in the Forest of Arden.
 4. Old friends are reunited over lunch in the Forest of Arden.
 5. President Pope Duncan, along with Homecoming hosts David Davis and Jojo Guess, awards the titles of Queen and King to Erin Bell and Tim Serio.
 6. The jazz band entertains the picnic crowd during the Homecoming barbecue.
 7. A strange camel cheers the Hatters on to victory at the Homecoming game.

Coach Gil Dominguez

The Stetson Soccer team finished the 1982 season with a record of five wins, ten losses, and one tie. However, this record does not indicate the quality of the Hatters' play. John Clark, co-captain of the team, said, "I believe we had a very successful season, considering the fact that we are one of the only colleges in the state without scholarships. We were the underdogs in every game we played this year."

The Hats upset such top schools as the University of Miami, South Alabama, and the University of Charleston. Co-captain Rick Harris led the Hatters in the scoring department for the third year in a row, and the gritty defense of Reed Kinnison and Mike Goodrich kept the Hatters close in many games.

The team is losing only two seniors this year, John Clark and Pat Clancey, and has a good nucleus to build from. Hopefully, there will be a few scholarships available in the near future so that Stetson soccer can attract top players, ultimately making Stetson a competitive power in this state.

Coach Gil Dominguez stepped down at the end of his fourth season. He was undying in his support of Stetson soccer and helped it to grow in many ways. The team would like to thank him for his dedication and wish him good fortune in whatever he does.

1. Jim McEachin (19) and Bob Spooner race to gain control of the errant pass.
2. The play develops on the home field of the Hatters, Spec Martin Field.
3. Soccer is played indoors during the winter months at the Edmunds Center.
4. Reed Kinnison shoots from a midfield during an indoor match.

Women's Volleyball

The 1982 Volleyball team improved substantially over last year's team. The team had a super attitude and stayed motivated throughout most of the season. There were many individual improvements that are important in a young team like Stetson's. They had a depth that has rarely been seen in any of the previous teams. There have been three starting freshmen in every match, and many had to develop consistency as well as all-around ability on the court. All of the starters are returning, except for one senior, Kathleen Cooley, who was a co-captain of the team.

There were 14 wins and 16 losses which was a significant gain over the previous record of 4-20. There were outstanding performances by the team's hitters, Kathleen Cooley, Maria Albano, and Dana Baldwin. Some outstanding setters were Mary Hadfield and Dubby Thompson. There was a strong defense at the net with blockers Maria Albano, Lori Johnson, Mary Hadfield, and Terree Smith. Some quick back line players were Maureen Sullivan, Katie Nelson, Maria Albano, and Dubby Thompson.

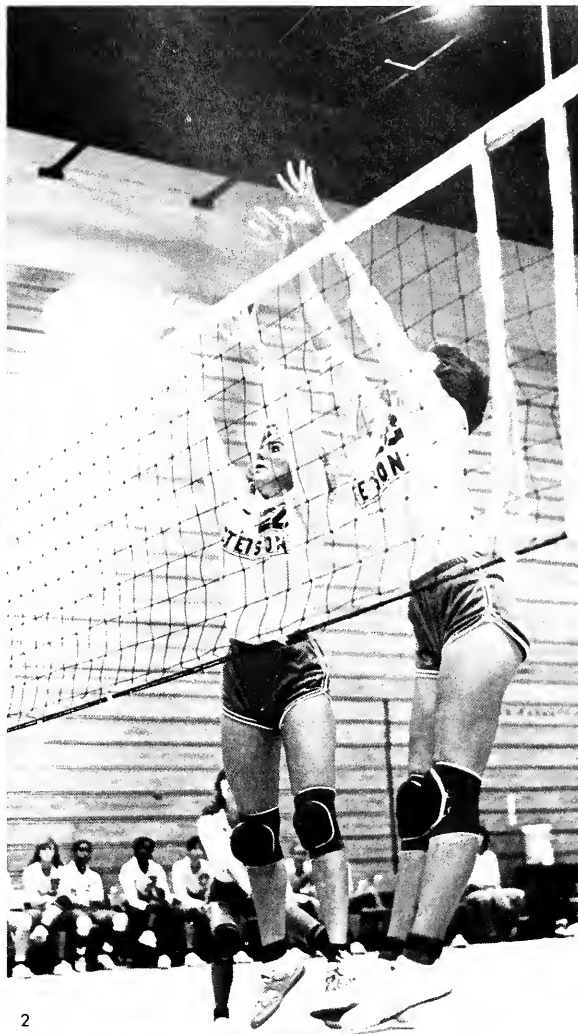

Coach Schumaker is optimistic about the future because of the team's attitude and effort, as well as its cohesiveness.

Women's Basketball

Seated: Monica Jackson, Sally Smith; Kneeling: Michael Reilly, Diane Hayes, Missouri McCoy, Marnie Vanstrum; Standing: Angela Head, Linda Kiefer, Leslie Clutts, Dallas Boychuk, Toni Wingo, Karen Lovaglio

The Lady Hatters are on the verge of great seasons. Coach Kelly Jordan said that her team is in "the building stages" of becoming one of the best teams in the area. With each new season, the young team gains invaluable experience. This experience, said Jordan, is a result of playing many Division I teams, including the top ranked FSU team. In the 1983 season, Jordan hoped to develop a consistency, which with already excellent teamwork, should result in outstanding future seasons.

The Basketball team had a very successful season this year, with a record of 19-9. All year long, the players challenged national powerhouse teams, coming out ahead in most cases. Highlights of the season were wins over West Virginia and Auburn, a one point loss to Purdue, and a three point overtime loss to Marquette. Frank Burnell was the leading scorer and averaged 20 points per game. He received strong support from Michael Reddick, Gary Mims, Glynn Myrick and Jorge Fernandez.

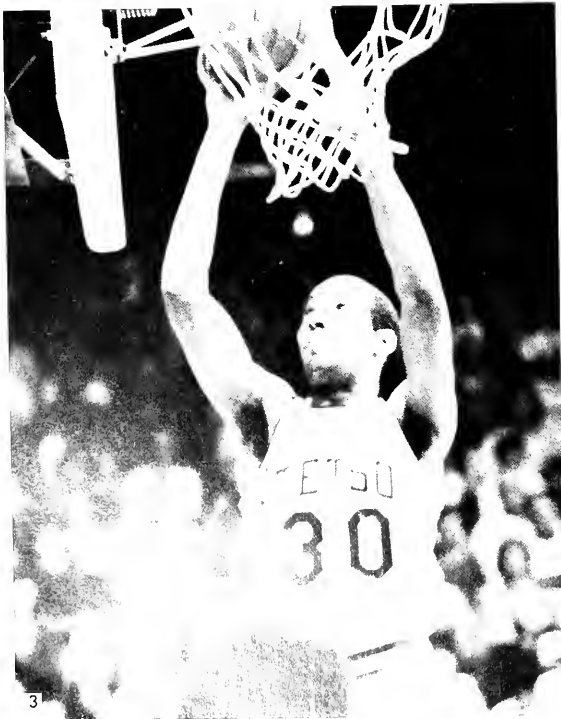

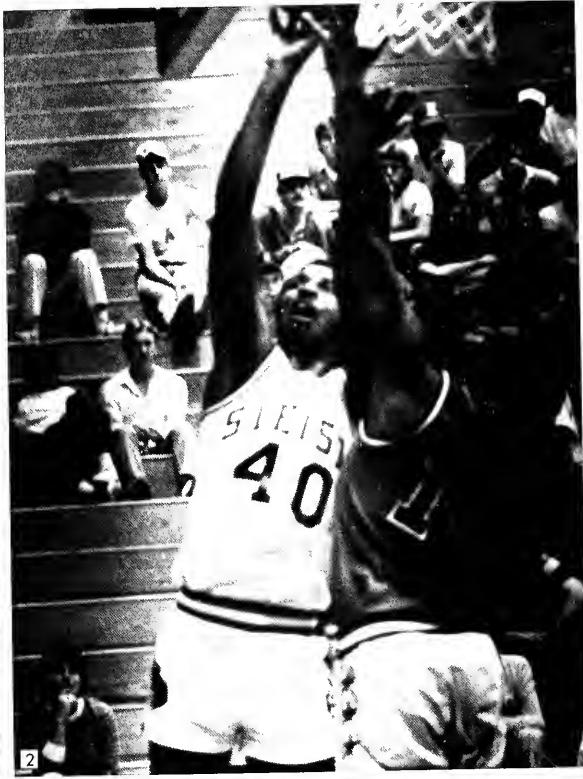

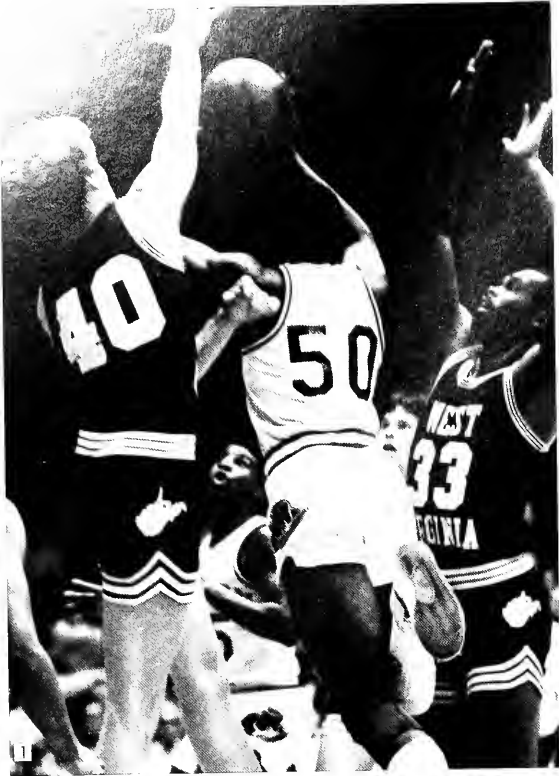

Coach Wilkes achieves his 400th win.

6. Frank Burnell and Roland Rucker move into position.
7. Victory!
8. Gary Mims towers for the tip-in.

Cheerleaders

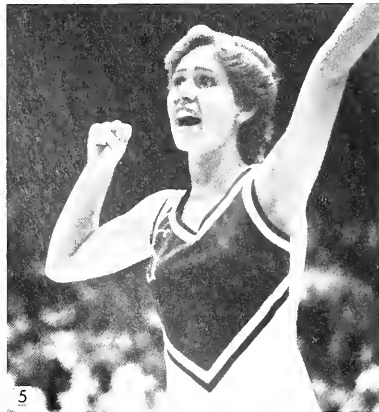

1982-1983 was another exciting year for the Stetson Varsity cheerleaders. They attended the NCAA cheerleading camp in July and received a spirit stick for their enthusiasm. Again, there were two Varsity squads, one for each basketball team - men's and women's.

The addition of men to the squad for the second year has proven to be advantageous for Stetson's spirit. The squads have worked together to make the effort of "exploding spirit" throughout the gymnasium to help cheer the team on to victory.

Support from the students, faculty, and administration will keep cheerleading on the upswing in the coming years.

Coach: Karen Eckes Advisor: Jan Wilkes Men's Basketball Cheerleaders: Lisa Birkenstock, Jean Boley, Lori Chadbourne, Julie Gibson, Jackie Iglesias, Sharon Smith, Bill Cleare, Gary Carriques, Tony Guzzetta, Bob Hoelscher, John Knight, and Fred Taylor - Captain. Women's Basketball Cheerleaders: Carol Buck, Jennifer Doheny, Bob Hoelscher, Lisa Gettings, Dawn Huntley - Captain, Karen Stettenbenz

2. One of the local Hatter fans adds her enthusiasm.
3. Bill Cleare yells for Stetson.
4. Lori Chadbourne and Fred Taylor lead a cheer out on the court.
5. Karen Stettenbenz cheers on the players.
6. Sharon Smith and Bill Cleare strike a pose.
7. Jackie Iglesias hollers for the Hatters.
8. Jennifer Doheny takes a break between cheers for the women's basketball team.

Women's Tennis

Donna Donath, Terri Fletcher, Jane Thompson, Mary Lou Herman, Peggy (Tig) Scheb, Patti Edgemon, Edie Anderson, Gabby Irazabel, Sharon Swanberry, Pam Sheffield

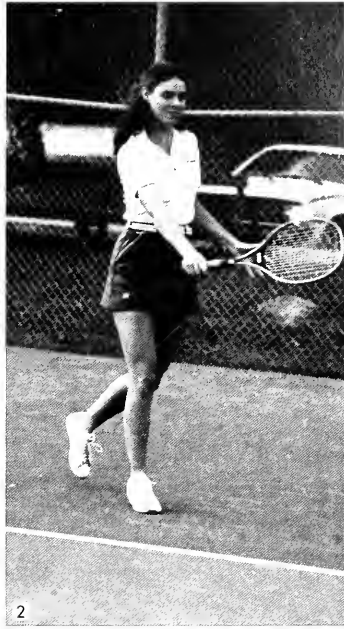

After such a phenomenal season last year, it did not seem possible that the Lady Hatter Tennis team could top that record. But it looks as if that is what the netters are going to do. Coach Vicky Pate said that they have the potential to win all of their matches. She hopes to once again get a team bid to the Division II National Championship. The #1 player, all-American Sharon Swanberry, was named one of the top individuals in Division II women's tennis by the national magazine, NCAA News. She and her doubles partner, Donna Donath, who plays in the #2 position, have very strong chances of receiving individual bids to the national championship. With only two seniors leaving, the team will remain one of the best in the state. Modestly, Pate stated, "We're going to have a good season." They have the enthusiasm, and they work hard.

Men's Tennis

Coach Ray Hussey believed the 1982-83 tennis team had more depth of talent than any other group he has worked with during his 33 years at Stetson. During the season, which extended from February to April, the tennis team compiled an impressive record. Earning the privilege of extensive travel through establishing this record, the team played 7 of 14 tournaments away from the home courts. The Stetson team confronted 12 out-of-state opponents. Confident of the skills of each player, Coach Hussey also anticipated that the eight sophomores on the 1982-83 team would prove valuable in achieving future winning seasons.

Brad Parsons — All-State Golf Team

This year's golf team was under the direction of Coach Robert Weickel, who worked hard with his team. The highly competitive team, placing at or near the middle of the final standings in most of its tournaments, was led by sophomore Brad Parsons. In recognition of his outstanding play at the state tournament in November, Parsons was named to the All-State golf team. Comprised mainly of underclassmen, Coach Weickel's team will have many successful seasons in years to come.

Coach Robert Weickel

Rifle Team

In its first year of NCAA competition, the Stetson rifle team has shown the character the university has come to expect from its athletes. The team competed in eight matches this year, including the Space Coast and F.I.T. Invitationals in Melbourne and the USF Season Opener in Tampa. The team also traveled to Thibodeaux, Louisiana, to participate in the Mardi-Gras Invitational, one of the most prestigious collegiate tournaments in the nation. Though the team is still seeking its first victory, it has placed well and is constantly improving. Coach SFC Tom Childs anticipates many successful seasons from the rifle team, which has all of its members returning next year.

1. Front row: John D'Ovale, Eddie Ellis, Abbe Morrison, Coach SFC Tom Childs; Back row: Ken Lucas, John Marino, Tim Tatem, Robert Risberg
2. The team practices in the prone position, one of the three standard positions of a rifle match.
3. Eddie Ellis gives the camera a target's-eye view of the kneeling position.
4. Robert Risberg steadies his rifle as he prepares to fire.
5. John Marino takes aim at a target fifty feet away and the size of a half-dollar.

Softball

A nucleus of five returning starters and the addition of three outstanding first year players provided first-year head coach Mary Ciuk with probably the most talented group of players to ever wear the green and gold. Leading the returners was last year's MVP selection, Jill Meehan. Meehan batted .400 in 1982 and anchored the Hatter outfield from her leftfield spot in 1983. 1981 MVP Christy Connor also returned and handled the pitching duties. Senior Becky Evans, junior speedster Maria Albano, and sophomore Lynn Hallmark were the other returning players.

Junior college transfer Margaret Peters and freshman Mary Wilbanks were two Hatter newcomers who were counted on heavily throughout the 1983 campaign. Peters, a defensive specialist, played shortstop while Wilbanks aided Meehan in the outfield. Junior Cathy Beebe, playing her first year of collegiate ball for the Hats, played first base. All three players bolstered the Stetson batting line-up; Peters is a .380 career hitter while Wilbanks and Beebe display good power. Other newcomers to the Stetson squad included senior Loretta Coppola, junior Sandra Story and freshman Diane O'Conner.

Baseball

Coach Pete Dunn

At the time these pages went to print, Stetson's baseball team had a record of 12 wins and 7 losses, including two key wins over the University of South Florida. The team was strong defensively and had good team speed. Key returning players included juniors Alex Lucco and John Pequignot, and seniors Jeff Pequignot and Vince Riva. Coach Dunn and the team were shooting for forty or more victories with hopes of earning another NCAA appearance. The team was scheduled to play 56 games against such baseball powerhouses as Miami, South Florida, Georgia Southern, South Carolina, and Michigan.

1. Jeff Pequignot takes a mighty cut at a high hard one . . .
2. . . . and later slides safely into third base. Dennis Martin runs over to congratulate him.
3. Bart Bishop drives off the rubber with his next pitch.

Alex Lucco steps up to the plate and swings for the fence.

Stetson Hatters # 12 in the Nation

Miami - May 1982

The 1982 Hatter Baseball team completed its season with a 40-18 record, the highest number of wins in Stetson's history. As a result, the ball club received a bid to play in the division I NCAA tournament held in Miami. The team eliminated Southeast conference Florida and Sunbelt conference University of South Florida in the regional tournament games. Its only losses were to the University of Miami, which went on to win the 1982 College World Series. Stetson finished 12th in the national rankings.

Jeff Gallagher was killed in an automobile accident just before the team was invited to go to the playoffs in Miami. Here are a few words his teammates had to say about him: "Jeff's friendly personality was an asset to him both on and off the field. His two years at Stetson were rewarding for him. He worked hard to utilize his talents and serve as a motivator to his teammates."

1. The two opposing coaches analyze the play.
2. The Hatters confer between plays.
3. The team is happy here!
4. The team greets a run scored.
5. The game is over - a win!!

1. Gary Mims battles for control of the boards.
2. Jackie Iglesias and Fred Taylor provide support for the two youngest members of the Hatter cheerleading squad, Courtney and Tara.
3. The volleyball team attempts to seal victory with aggressive front line play.
4. Dallas Boychuk drives the lane for a layup against Florida.
5. Donnie Mays goes high for a rebound.
6. The victory celebration is a tradition the Hatter baseball team renews often.
7. Edie Anderson takes time out from a match to chat with Paul Smith.
8. Jackie Iglesias leaves no doubt that she has spirit.
9. Kathleen Cooley gets up for a spike.

West University Hall

Judy Lurtz and Janice Butt

West University Hall, Stetson's newest female residence hall, is not a secret any longer. This year, the staff and residents have made it their goals to establish their residence hall's own identity and to make it well-known on campus. The women in West University sponsored build-your-own sundae parties, TGIF runs, and salad bars, among other hall functions. They also co-sponsored a Halloween dance and participated in rap sessions with Carson Upper 3.

Area Coordinators

Mark Barnes and Kathleen Ganey

One male and one female are responsible for the supervision and administration of the residential areas. Area Coordinators are usually post-graduate students working in counseling or related areas. They possess leadership and organizational skills. McEniry Award Recipients

President

Pope A. Duncan
President, Stetson University

All yearbooks are special, because they record the unique events of a college year. This one, however, has a very special meaning, because it records the events of Stetson's 100th year. This is a year which is important in the life of Stetson but even more important in your own life. I hope that you will get the pleasure out of this book through the years that I have gotten out of those yearbooks published during my own college experience.

Those of us who remain at Stetson on a kind of semi-permanent basis wish for you who are students and soon-to-become alumni the very best in whatever you do and wherever you go. We also hope that you will remember these years with fondness, with appreciation, and with the sense that you are still a part of the Stetson family.

President's Cabinet

Garth Jenkins, Graves Edmondson, Robert Chauvin, Pope Duncan, Denton Coker, Douglas Lee, Douglas Strickland, Gary Maris

J. Ollie Edmunds
Chancellor

Provost

Denton R. Coker
Provost
Stetson University

It has been a unique pleasure to stand with my new colleagues to salute that great host of dedicated scholars and leaders who walked before us under the banner of Pro Deo et Veritate to advance the cause of Christian higher education. Also, it has been a joy to find at Stetson University a faculty and student body with academic credentials and potential equal to those of the best universities in the nation.

The questions I have heard discussed most often this year give some clues to the future of Stetson: how to preserve and improve the quality of education, how to help students develop a higher sense of values, how to help faculty stay ahead of the changes in their academic areas, how to provide the best instructional equipment, how to keep up with technological changes, and how to bring to Stetson more of the world's great leaders in every field.

We are deeply committed to beginning the search for answers to these questions now, and we sincerely hope the members of this graduating class and all Stetson alumni and friends will join us in this exciting quest.

STETSON

Remember Tomorrow

This book began with a recollection of the past: the people and their ideas, the places, and the events of the past century that have shaped the Stetson tradition. The following pages are an attempt to encapsulate this centennial year. Each item is a significant characteristic of Stetson, warranting remembrance. Taken together, the pictures document the state of the university as it is today. It seems only proper that we take this opportunity to speculate on the next one hundred years.

1. BCM members Terri Humes, Lewis Humes, and Jason Dunn use greasepaint to show where their loyalties lie.
2. David Letter performs on his air guitar at the Carson-Chaudoin rock-n-roll party.
3. The sidewalk in front of the Commons is the scene of this caucus of Drs. Thwing, Papacosta, Colwell, and Dickson.
4. Tom Tuttle gets comfortable in the library for an evening of study.
5. The basketball players are not the only athletes in the Edmunds Center during a game, as Fred Taylor and Lori Chaddourne and Bill Cleare and Sharon Smith show.
6. Dubby Thompson, K. C. White, Marla Albano, and Lynn Hallmark relax at their favorite watering hole.
7. The annual Yule Log lighting always draws a large crowd of students and DeLand residents.
8. The action is fast and furious during faculty volleyball games.
9. Sam Setliff tries to get a tan in front of Davis Hall between classes.

2. Helen Nielander and Reed Grimm discuss the issues of the day.
3. Colonel Wehrle and Dr. Colwell carry on a serious conversation
4. Two Pi Kappas express the brotherhood which is particularly evident during Bid Pick-up.
5. A pair of students relax and laugh away the cares of the day.
6. With the formation of the United States Football League, Jim Mora brought his Philadelphia Stars to train on the Stetson campus.
7. Lydell Mitchell takes a fall.
8. Kohn Bennett watches apprehensively as an opponent shoots.
9. While enjoying the fall sunshine, Jackie Olson looks over her economics.
10. Stetson's many art exhibits provide a wide variety of opportunities for cultural enrichment.

3. Kathy Seiler and Lisa Papa exchange information on the Hat Rack Patio.
4. Chaudoin residents make use of the sundeck to get a bird's-eye view of the goings-on in the circle.
5. Mark Prue and Mark Smith find something better to watch than the basketball action at the Edmunds Center.
6. Ann Wall and Kathy Seiler survey the scene at the Campus-wide bed race.
7. Stetson students studying abroad in Germany pose with their new-found friends.
8. Mary Beth Maloney inspects the bed race course with Tom Colaprico.
9. Gina Lategano pauses on the staircase in Chaudoin Hall, which is undergoing renovation.
10. In line at the commons, Shelby Clemons makes another selection.

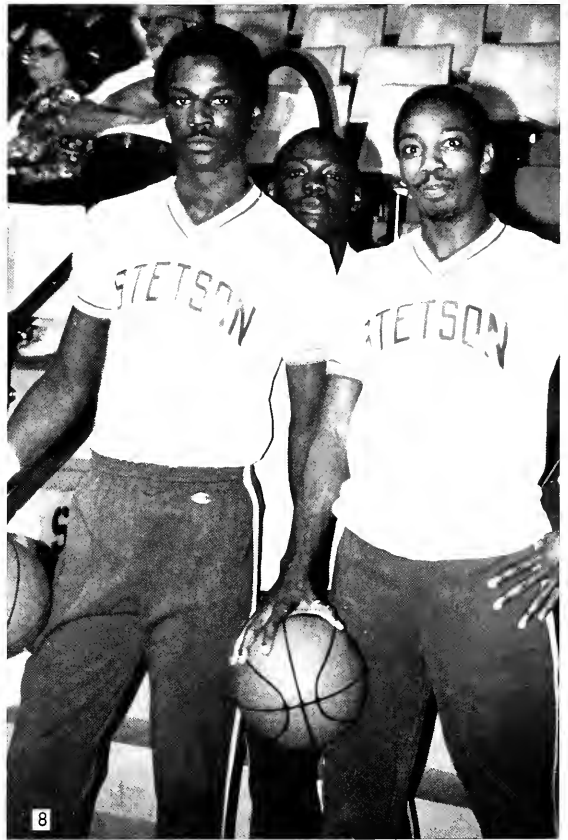

1. Terri Fletcher and Sharon Swanbery take advantage of Stetson's exercise equipment.
2. Caren Merritt looks on as Tim Kilpatrick takes care of some typing in the security office.
3. While incognito, Jim Teets philosophizes with a friend.
4. Commuter Kathleen McNeilly makes her way to her car.
5. Ned Raven looks on as Mike Taylor and Ross Cotherman play a friendly game of backgammon.
6. Demonstrating a daily ritual for most college students, Ben Holmes checks his mail.
7. Dr. J. Ollie Edmunds addresses the crowd at convocation exercises.
8. In the summer of 1983, Carson Hall will be divided into two residence halls — one for men and one for women.
9. The new half-time squad performs for the fans at a home basketball game.
10. For one of its fundraisers, the Baptist Campus Ministry sells house plants in front of the C.U.B.

HATTER BOOKSTORE CONGRATULATES THE CENTENNIAL CLASS

ON THE IMPORTANCE OF CLEAR COMMUNICATION

The following instructions actually appeared in a church bulletin:

"The service will close with 'Little Drops of Water'. One of the ladies will start quietly and the rest of the congregation will join in".

In case we have not communicated effectively with you, we would like to say that we have started quietly and we hope the rest of you will join in.

Within the pages of this book, we have tried to capture the events and activities significant to this year at Stetson. Unfortunately, a March deadline has made it impossible to cover the year in full. We hope, however, that this book will evoke memories of your entire experience at Stetson — both now and in years to come.

I would like to thank the following people for their contributions to the 1983 Hatter:

The entire Hatter staff, especially my assistant editor, Kurt Tesh, and my section editors, Nancy Barnett, Tony DeSantis, Laurie Larson, Tracy Reynolds, Kimberly Smith, and Josie Tulka. Without these people, there would have been no yearbook.

My photography editors, Scott Schumaker and Greg Gates, and their photography staffs.

Robert Bender, Kirk Boutwell, David Kleedt, Scott Kiefer, Pat McGarry, Craig Putnal, and Mary Jane Sanders for their help during deadlines although they were not technically "on staff."

Ms. Ann Burlin, our yearbook advisor, for the tremendous effort on her part to increase this year's budget and for her invaluable assistance.

Ms. Jayne Marlowe, Ms. Linda Parson, and Dr. E. Garth Jenkins for their undying support.

Mr. Fred Cooper and Mr. Joe Myers for their help with the opening section.

Walsworth Publishing Company and our representative, Mr. Jerry Fields.

Mr. Joseph J. Master, my academic advisor, for encouraging me to take this position. Despite all of the heartaches and late nights, I can honestly say that I'm glad I did.

Finally, to everyone else who has been a part of this yearbook — by patiently being photographed (sometimes more than once!), by indentifying those nameless faces in pictures, by advertising or contributing as patrons — we thank you for making the 1983 Hatter a success.
